

Type and Careers: Occupational Trends of the 16 Types

ISTJ Management Administration Law Enforcement Accounting Or any other occupations where they can use their experience, attention to detail and dedication to organizational goals to accomplish practical tasks.	ISFJ Education Health Care Religious Settings Or any other occupations where they can use their experience and/or their understanding of organizational standards to help others and support the "team."	INFJ Religion Counseling Teaching Arts Writing Or any other occupations where they can facilitate the emotional, intellectual and spiritual development of others and/or express their ideas in writing and plans.	INTJ Science Computers Law Academics Or any other occupations where they can use their intellectual creativity to create plans and schemes and/or their ease with technology to solve problems.
ISTP Skilled Trades Technical Fields Computers Agriculture Military Or any other occupations where they can use their practical expertise to solve technical problems and/or process information effectively.	ISFP Health Care Business Law Enforcement Or any other occupations where use their attention to detail in a service-oriented field.	INFP Counseling Writing Arts Or any other occupations where they can use their creativity in independent ways and/or where they feel the freedom to grow.	INTP Sciences Technical Fields Computers Design Or any other occupations where they can use their analytical ability in independent ways to solve problems, invent and discover.
ESTP Marketing Skilled Trades Business Law Enforcement Applied Technology Or any other occupations where they can use their "doer" nature to find technical solutions and make sure practical work is carried out successfully.	ESFP Health Care Coaching Skilled Trades Childcare Public Relations Or any other occupations where they can use their outgoing nature and people skills to help people with their practical needs.	ENFP Counseling Teaching Religion Arts Public Relations Or any other occupations where they can use their energy and people skills to motivate and help groups and individuals grow and/or work together better.	ENTP Science Management Technology Arts Design Or any other occupations where they can use their analytical skills and multiple talents to help groups function more effectively and solve new challenges.
ESTJ Management Administration Law Enforcement Or any other occupations where they can use their organizational and leadership skills to help others execute the task in the most efficient manner.	ESFJ Education Health Care Religion Or any other occupations where they can use their instinct for teaching and care for others with a primary focus on practical needs and creating harmonious organizations.	ENFJ Education Religion Social Work Arts Or any other occupations where they can use their people skills and enthusiasm to help others grow, make meaning and understand the big picture.	ENTJ Management Law Leadership Technology Or any other occupations where they can use their natural leadership skills and analytical ability to help organize and marshal the energy needed to get collective tasks done.